PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE:

Moving to the Future and Accepting the Challenges

Ursula Mellinger, BSN, RN, CPAN, CAPA – ASPAN President 2025-2026

During the recent Perianesthesia Development Institute (PDI), the Board met and approved our 2026 annual budget. In addition to finalizing the budget, there were many strategic discussions focused on the future of ASPAN. The Board is working hard to ensure that members will see even more benefits and added value to their membership, recognizing the dedication and hard work you put in every day to ensure your patients receive the best possible care. I am also pleased to report that ASPAN remains financially healthy, and we have committed to investing in exciting new initiatives that you will begin to hear about in the coming year.

At PDI, we also had the opportunity to hear directly from our volunteers and component leaders about their questions, concerns, and ideas related to our reorganization initiative. We heard you, and I want to assure you that the Board and staff are preparing a detailed announcement in January. This update will address your questions, provide clarity, and help guide ASPAN through a potential change that will ultimately make us stronger.

We appreciate your feedback and evaluations. We acknowledge the technical issues that occurred and are committed to implementing corrective measures and ongoing improvements moving forward. Some mentioned they had more questions at the end of PDI. Asking questions is beneficial; it stimulates thought and fosters curiosity. Thank you for submitting your evaluations.

Ursula Mellinger
BSN, RN, CPAN,
CAPA

Continuing the theme of my presidency, Moving to the Future and Accepting the Challenges, ASPAN is embracing another exciting change. This issue of Breathline will be the last in its current format, as we transition to an eNewsletter with expanded content hosted on our website. We believe this new format will make it easier for members to access ASPAN news, updated clinical information, and feature articles. I would like to extend my sincere thanks to Susan Norris, our Breathline Editor, for her dedication and contributions over the years.

Be on the lookout for the first eNewsletter edition in January.

Finally, I want to thank all of our volunteers, members, and staff for their ongoing contributions to ASPAN. Wishing you a happy and healthy holiday season, and we look forward to connecting with you in 2026. 🌿

ASPAN Hosts Successful 2025 Perianesthesia Development Institute

Over 100 ASPAN members and leaders joined us, both in person and virtually, for this year's ASPAN Perianesthesia Development Institute (PDI), held November 7–8 in Louisville, Kentucky. Throughout the event, members of ASPAN's Enhancing Organizational Capacity Strategic Work Team shared updates on the strategies, processes, and outcomes shaping ASPAN's future and emphasized the importance of member input as we continue this work together. Many questions regarding the upcoming reorganization were raised during the presentations. All answers, along with additional valuable information and updates, will be shared on our website in January.

Attendees also enjoyed a full slate of presentations, including:

Willingness to Serve: Accepting the Challenges and Making the Future

Ronda Dyer, MSN, BSPA, RN, CPAN, CAPA, FASPAN – ASPAN Vice President/President-Elect

ASPAN is an organization for perianesthesia nurses shaped by perianesthesia nurses. To ensure our professional organization meets our needs and to shape the future, we need to be involved. ASPAN President Ursula Mellinger selected the theme, Moving to the Future and Accepting the Challenges. There is a lot of wisdom to unpack in this one line. Professional organizations become what the membership desires through the input and effort of volunteers. My challenge to each member is: accept the challenge and help shape the future of ASPAN.

How do you do this? First, identify your passion. Second, select an ASPAN committee or strategic work team (SWT) whose stated purpose speaks to your passion and volunteer to be involved. Whether you are most interested in education, clinical inquiry, or clinical practice, there is a committee for you. If you want to help grow ASPAN, promote specialty certification, are interested in publication, or policy, there is a seat at the table. In fact, there are 19 different teams covering a vast array of interests. The complete list of 2026-2027 Committees and SWTs, along with descriptions, can be found here.

Each year, in the fall, members are given the opportunity to submit their Willingness to Serve form indicating preferred areas of interest. To have your voice heard and submit your Willingness to Serve form, simply click here and let me know where you would like to be involved. I hope you will step up and volunteer just a few hours a year to help shape the future of ASPAN to ensure that our organization continues to meet the needs of all generations of perianesthesia nurses and all subspecialties throughout the country. 🌿

Clinical Practice: Recurring Questions and Themes

Lori Erni, BSN, RN, CCRN, CPAN – ASPAN Director for Clinical Practice

Lori Erni, BSN, RN, CCRN, CPAN

There are many recurring questions that are submitted to ASPAN's clinical practice submission site. The questions that are submitted are gathered, categorized, and formulated. Myself and all the other directors have been keeping track of all the questions submitted during our term in office.

These questions have many recurring themes, one of them being staffing and who can be the second nurse in the room during Phase 1 care. Two different inquiries asked who that second nurse can be, specifically, if that person could be the CRNA or a medical/surgical nurse.

The response to both individuals is "yes." In the 2025-2026 Perianesthesia Nursing Standards, Practice Recommendations and Interpretive Statements: "The second registered nurse should be able to hear a call for assistance and be immediately available to assist."<sup>1</sup> It is not the expectation that the second RN would assume care of a Phase 1 PACU patient. The CRNA or the medical/surgical nurse would be able to assist. During normal business hours, this scenario is not usual. However, during call shifts or nighttime, this is an issue that can arise.

As nighttime staffing may be minimal with two nurses scheduled, an ill call can lead to staffing dilemmas. There have been inquiries submitted previously regarding the second nurse. One scenario was when the second PACU nurse was in an accident and our questioner asked who would be the second nurse. I have been on call when my call partner got stuck in the snow. The OR nurse became my second RN. I have also utilized the house supervisor, the anesthesiologist, the pre-op nurse early in the morning, etc.

The crux of the matter is providing safe care to our patients in this most vulnerable time along with maintaining a safe work environment.

DEVELOPMENT UPDATES

Honor a Colleague, Inspire a Generation

The Development Strategic Work Team is excited to announce a new giving campaign, “Honor a Colleague, Inspire a Generation,” that allows you to do precisely that: you can make a gift to ASPAN in honor of a colleague or loved one, and those funds will go toward scholarships that inspire and impact the next generation of perianesthesia nursing leaders. Scholarships include funds for certification fees, National Conference, to further your professional education, and even humanitarian missions. Everyone who contributes to the campaign will be recognized on the ASPAN website, and all contributions are also counted toward Legacy for Life status. You can learn more about the campaign and how to contribute by clicking here. Thank you to everyone who has supported ASPAN over the years and for your continued generosity in 2026! 🌱

THANK YOU

ASPAN would like to thank everyone who made a Hail, Honor, Salute! (HHS) gift from September 2024 through November 2025. HHS is a great way to support perianesthesia practice while honoring friends and colleagues for their outstanding qualities and accomplishments. Thanks to each one of you and for your continued support with the kick-off of our new campaign, “Honor a Colleague, Inspire a Generation.”
